Facts Released By National Safety Council

With thousands of Mississippi children returning to school within the next few weeks, the Mississippi Safety Council reminds the parents of five facts released by the National Safety Council:

1. Accidents are the leading cause of death to school-age children.

2. More than 2,500 children 5-14 years of age are killed annually in accidents involving motor vehicles.

3. More than 1,100 of those children are pedestrians.

4. A total of 150,000 children in the 5-15 age group are injured each year in motor vehicle mishaps.

5. One out of 12 students injured in a "school jurisdiction" accident is on his way to an arm school.

Owen Cooper, President of the statewide groups, remarked that a teenage driver is involved in 1 out of 10 fatal automobile accidents.

"In practically every case," Cooper said, "the involved teenager had not had Driver Training instruction in school."

The safety official stated further that the safest drivers in the state were those who had completed a Driver Training course.

Driver Training is an optional course and is not available to most of the Mississippi students.

Cooper said, "we spend millions of dollars in the state each year for educational purposes, and nationwide we spend millions more to fight the diseases that might being suffering in our children."

"Yet," he continued, "we fail to protect them adequately against one of the most deadly hazards of modern living... the automobile."

The Council President said he was concerned over the apathy shown by most parents when junior becomes of legal age to drive "instead of insisting on Driver Training."

He said most parents get extremely angry if he fails to obtain his driver's license on his first attempt.

The Mississippi Safety Council believes Driver Training should be a required course in the tenth grade.

"It should include comprehensive classroom study and a minimum of 8 hours behind-the-wheel with a well-qualified instructor," Cooper said.

He mentioned parents could do much about the child traffic problem by realizing that his or her behavior in traffic influences the child greatly, and if a good example was set by the parent, the child would follow with the same good traffic habits.

"Accidents are the greatest killer of our Mississippi youth," Cooper said, "and we must correct this needless situation."

"Parents should demand Driver Training for their High Schools and they should also become safer drivers themselves so their children will have a good example to follow."

The Mississippi Safety Council is a citizens' organization designed to promote accident prevention in all fields of economic endeavor.

Dr. Walter Hava sent out an SOS last week via this column for word of his pet rooster which wandered away from his cage.

In spite of all efforts to locate the animal, Dr. Hava still has not retrieved his pet.

However, in the hope that the rooster would return in his usual hungry state, Dr. Hava set a trap and watched patiently.

He got results... the trap produced a mother possum and her new born family.

As we go to press, the good doctor thinks he might give Mama Possum and her brood to a nearby zoo. The rooster is still on the loose!

WAVELAND WANDERINGS

GEORGETTE B. HALL

Congratulations to Master Robbie Kirk Asher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Asher, who celebrated his first birthday Sunday, August 14, at the home of his parents. Young Robbie enjoyed all the "goodies" of the occasion—birthday cake and its cream and lots of gifts. Those participating in the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Asher, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Asher, Mrs. Ruth Ketchum, Mrs. Frances Saltsman, Mrs. Mary Frances, Mr. Terry Asher and Mrs. Kathleen Herlihy, Mr. and Mrs. Fiedler, Mrs. Lillian Asher, Charles and Perry Riegle, Elaine Shaw and John Lusch.

A new hour for the Sunday morning worship at the Waveland Methodist Church has been announced by the Rev. Dale Lyons. Services will now begin at 10:00 a. m. each Sunday morning instead of 9:30 A. M. This new schedule will help Rev. Lyons to have ample time on the road after preaching his sermon at the Lakeside Methodist church. Everyone is invited to attend church services at this new hour.

Guests of Mrs. George Fanning at her home on Favre Lane are Mrs. C. Burke and daughter, Mrs. Marie Burke, and Patricia Burke and Billy Chadwell.

Get well wishes are sent this week to Mr. Ed Harris, Mr. Wm. Ruhn and Mrs. Ruth Ketchum who are still "under the weather."

Sincere good wishes for speedy recoveries are sent to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bond, their

SECURITY
SIGNED 25
AGO, 1935

Social Security act was signed twenty-five years ago, on August 31, 1935.

Program for the aged now pays out of four people with monthly payments of $50 and survivors' benefits from old aged assistance of $20 a month for more than four out of the aged will be received under the two programs.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Arthur S. Fleming said: "Social Security is today an accepted part of our culture and an essential part of our economy. The social security programs of the United States have grown from their beginnings to a scope of national old-age, survivors, and disability insurance which at least approaches universal coverage. At the same time, there has been a proliferation of employee-benefit plans and a great expansion of private insurance. The source of individual security have not dried up. . . . We are sure that we have both the resources and the moral strength to achieve a full measure of security for the American people."

Commissioner of Social Security William L. Mitchell pointed out: "The social security system of the United States has survived economic storms, political crisis, and a skepticism which marked the passage of the Act has been accepted and support for social security by the major political, labor, and cultural elements of our population."

"The act has been revised several times to provide greater protection for workers and their dependents and survivors—for the aged and retired, for fatherless children and their mothers, and for the severely disabled. It works towards the twin objectives of providing stronger family life. Some 14 million beneficiaries now receive old age, survivors, and disability insurance payments, aggregating about $900 million per month. Nine out of every ten workers in the United States are covered by provisions of the program. Social security's growing strength and wide acceptance can be measured by its accomplishments within the life span of many people. Mr. Mitchell pointed out. To illustrate, the first beneficiary of social security retirement insurance, John J. Fisher, of Ludlow, Vermont, is still living and receiving monthly payments. His first benefit check in the amount of $22.54 was delivered on January 31, 1940. His present social security benefit is $63 a month.

The original Act authorized programs of old-age benefits, unemployment insurance, public assistance for the needy aged, blind and dependent children. It also provided for grants to the States to strengthen programs of service to children.

In the intervening years what was the old-age benefits program has become old-age, survivors, and disability insurance; its coverage extending to almost the entire gainfully-employed population.

Congress has periodically increased the benefits. The 1950 amendments raised average benefits about 61 percent; the 1952 amendments by 15 percent; the 1954 amendments by 13 percent; and the 1956 amendments by 7 percent.

"All the social security programs," Mr. Mitchell said, "seek to respond to needs and changing concepts—but certain basic principles remain. We recognize the great value of initiative and action by private organizations and by local communities. We also know there are problems and needs that transcend local boundaries and require Federal leadership and action."

"Moreover, since our society functions primarily through the family, the purpose of most amendments to the Social Security Act has been better service and broader protection to American families."

"We should expect changes in all the social security programs. Their general direction may be summarized by two main goals: (1) to assure all Americans something more than a minimum economic security, and (2) to bring increased understanding and service to the non-economic needs of man."

MISSISSIPPI FARMERS UNHAPPY OVER DENYING IGNORED

Mississippi farmers are unhappy over being ignored in national farm policies.

Benjamin Stephens, president of the state organization, expressed grave concern over party platforms for agricultural that ignore recommendations of the Mississippi and American Farm Bureau Federation, the country's largest general farm organization.

"Our policies are determined democratically by farmers themselves in county Farm Bureau meetings all over the United States," he said, "and we consider them sound, workable and in the best long time interest of our country."

Stevens lamented the fact that the democratic farm platform was taken from recommendations of the much smaller, liberal Farmers' Union which does not even have an organization in Mississippi. Their program he reminded is a revival of the old Brannan plan for socializing agriculture which has been consistently rejected by the U. S. Congress.

By way of contrast the American Farm Bureau Federation is conservative, expends considerable energy combating inflation, over spending in government, and excessive federal control of government.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Drott Monday were his mother, Mrs. J. H. Drott, of Ponchatoula, La., and his sister, Mrs. Jackie Fussell of Tallahassee, Fla.

Jay Ansley, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ansley, has been visiting his grandmother, Mrs. M. L. Ansley in New Orleans. They returned on Monday. Mrs. Ansley will remain for a visit with her son and family.

The American Farm Bureau Federation recommended to both party platform committees that the nation should move in the direction of eliminating acreage controls and marketing quotas on farm commodities. Farm income will be better when farmers are encouraged to produce for consumer markets rather than for wasteful storage in already overflowing government bins, the Farm Bureau said.

Farm production cannot be balanced with effective demand by legislation as long as increased production is being encouraged by government guarantees, the Farm Bureau continued. Price support levels should be designed to facilitate orderly marketing rather than to fix prices.

The Farm Bureau maintained that price support levels should take account of competitive conditions, supply and demand, and market trends. With less interference from government, the marketing system will be freer to operate effectively and efficiently with expansion of markets and the products in line with market de-

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

MARCIA P. HUGHES Home Demonstration Agent

You are a wife and mother who works away from home. But your neighbor is a full-time homemaker. Which of your two families get the foods they should have? A wife's working outside the home seems to have little effect on the nutritive value of her family's food. That is the finding of a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture survey.

But the wife and mother working away from home does affect food costs. In general working wives spend more for food and choose more expensive types of foods. They spend about 56 cents more for each person on weekly food supplies than did families with similar incomes in which the wife was not employed.

NO MORE DARK PEACHES

Yes, dark peaches can be a problem when you are preparing them for freezing. But you can solve the problem with ascorbic acid. When you pack your peaches in sugar syrup, add one-half teaspoon ascorbic acid to each quart of syrup.

If you use a sugar pack, use one-fourth teaspoon ascorbic acid to each quart of prepared fruit before you add the sugar. Either sprinkle the ascorbic acid over the fruit in dry form or mix with one-fourth cup water and sprinkle over a quart of fruit.

KEEP A GOOD CREDIT RATING

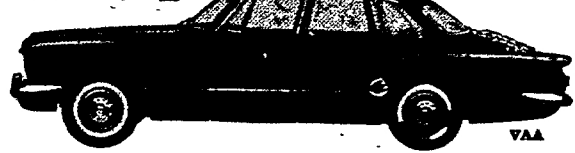

What does the retail credit bureau know about you? Only what you tell them. Of course, you don't tell them in person. Instead you tell them by the way you handle your credit obligations, including your charge accounts.

If you're ever requested or used credit to any extent, your name is probably in the files of a credit bureau. This bureau collects credit information about people who wish to borrow money, buy on the installment plan or open a new charge account.

This information is a service to both merchants and consumers. Credit would be much harder to secure without the services of credit bureaus.

Be sure you always "tell" the credit bureau good things about

DON McCULLOCH
SELECTED CHAIRMAN
ADVISORY COMMITTEE

DON McCULLOCH

Don McCulloch, Supervisor of Advertising and publicity, Miss. Power Company, Gulfport, has been elected chairman of the Advisory Committee of the nationally famed Freedom Forum conducted annually by the National Education Program, Searcy, Arkansas, it was announced today by George S. Benson, President of the National Education Program and of Harding College.

Mr. McCulloch has served as a member of the committee for 6 years. It assists Dr. Benson and his staff in formulating the program each year for the Forum which is held in Oklahoma City in February, in Searcy in April, on the Pacific Coast and in New York in June each year.

The Forum is a four-day seminar designed to train thought-leaders to effectively disseminate education upholding the basic principles of the American way of life and exposing the fallacies and dangers of Socialism-Communism.

The National Education Program, a non-profit organization founded by Dr. Benson 5 years ago, creates and distributes educational materials and tools "to strengthen and safeguard the structure of American freedom."

Concerning Mr. McCulloch's election, Dr. Benson said: "The 14 members of the Advisory Committee have elected him chairman on the basis of his leadership qualities and his keen understanding of the crisis facing our nation today. Our staff is deeply grateful to Mr. McCulloch for his continuing contribution towards the success of our work."

William J. Henderson, director of education, Associated Industries of Missouri, was elected vice chairman. Other members of the committee are C. A. Gillespie, supervisor personnel relations, Allison Division, General Motors Corporation, Indianapolis; Roswell B. West, chief, security in doctrine, U. S. Air Force Material Command, Wright-Patterson Field, Ohio; F. E. Highton, Union Relations Service, General Electric Company, New York; John L. Fea, supervisor instructional materials, Washington State Department of Education, Olympia; Carroll Reynolds, educational director, Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce; H. L. Swift, Industrial Relations, Swift & Company, Chicago; E. W. Dwyer, director personnel relations, Monsanto Chemical Co., St. Louis; Maurice Whitcraft, retired president, Pepsi Cola Bottlers, St. Louis; Dr. Benson; Glenn A. Green, executive vice president of the National Education Program; Doyle Swan, vice president for operations; and Howard Bennett, vice president for industrial relations.

The 1960 meeting of the committee will be held September 12-13 in St. Louis. Arrangements will be under Mr. McCulloch's direction.

With Americans traveling and spending more this year than ever before, the Southland is pinpointed as the nation's favorite vacationland in a recent survey completed. The preference for Dixie as a vacationland is, of course, a boon to Mississippi whose tourist attractions and advantage outrank any in the South. Steadily increasing income from Mississippi's tourist industry proves this point. Last year, the state realized approximately $350 million from this source.

"Elmer Gantry" At Legion Theatre August
28th Through Aug. 31st

The highly controversial film version of Sinclair Lewis' best-selling novel, "Elmer Gantry," will open Aug. 28 at the Legion Theatre and run through Aug. 31 through United Artists release. Burt Lancaster and Jean Simmons are starred in "Elmer Gantry" with Dean Jagger, Shirley Jones, Patti Page and Arthur Kennedy. The film is a Bert Lancaster-Richard Brooks production in Eastman-color.

Lancaster portrays Elmer Gantry, the itinerant evangelist minister. Miss Simmons co-stars as Sister Sharon Falconer.

The set of "Elmer Gantry" was closed during the filming of the entire production, the screenplay guarded with strictest secrecy, full scripts being issued only to the principal players, and top production personnel.

Lancaster and Brooks adopted the policy of secrecy just as Sinclair Lewis did when he wrote the novel in 1927. The Nobel Prize-winning author, before he submitted the completed manuscript to the book's publisher, Harcourt and Brace insisted that only the partners be allowed to read the novel, and then place it under lock and key until publication.

"Elmer Gantry" brings to the screen "The Singing Rage," Miss Patti Page, who makes her motion picture debut as the choir leader of the traveling Evangelical troupe. Shirley Jones was chiefly known as the sweet young singer of such musicals as "Oklahoma," and "Carousel," until she was cast in "Elmer Gantry," as a lady of easy virtue.

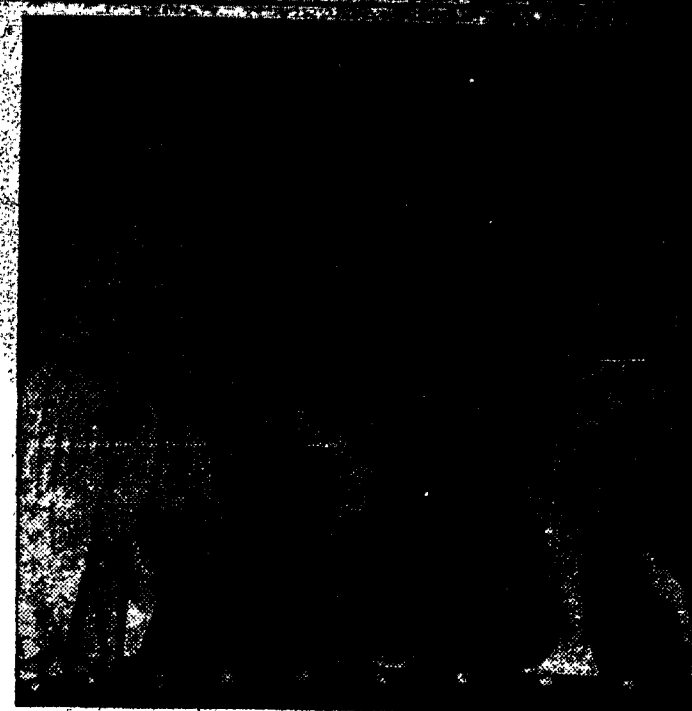

United Artists will urge moviegoers to check the time schedules carefully and not enter theatres during the last seven minutes of "Elmer Gantry," because of its exciting conclusion.

4-H BEEF PROJECT IS A
MAJOR ASSET

Prominent among the many beneficial features of Miss.'s 4-H Club activity is the beef cattle project which commands the active interest of many youthful members. Broad in scope, it covers breeding, production, management, marketing and scientific research. Moreover, it offers many opportunities for 4-H members to practice leadership and responsibility. Year-to-year results of the 4-H beef cattle projects speak for themselves. This activity is becoming broader and more effective as time passes. Many Mississippi youngsters have claimed ownership of champion animals at events ranging from county fairs to the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago.

Steve Reeves rescues Mylene Demongeot from her captor, Ivo Curran, in the exciting climactic sequence of "The Giant of Marathon," spectacular Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer release depicting a heroic story of ancient Greece and the defense of Athens against invading Persians. The picture was filmed in CinemaScope and color on a vast scope with a cast of thousands. To show Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the STAR Theatre.

STATE BANKS HOLD LEADER-SHIP IN CREDIT SERVICE TO FARMERS

Mississippi's banks have been doing an impressive job of financing state agriculture as indicated by the fact that they were serving farmers with 18% more credit than a year previous, as of January 1st of this year. Actually, more than half of all bank farm mortgage loans are used to finance immediate type capital expenses, and as a further service to help farmers improve their operations. About one-third of all bank farm loans have a repayment program longer than one year.

SOUTH'S BROILER
PRODUCTION HIGH

Commercial poultry hatcheries in the South last year produced enough broilers to put nearly 30 chickens in the pot of each American household. Off production lines of hatcheries in the sixteen state southern region came an estimated 1,344,489,000 broilers in 1959. According to a recent study the south now almost monopolizes the broiler production field. Georgia advanced to the nation's number one position with Alabama in second place, and Mississippi climbed from 27th to sixth position in production; however, all but Alabama, Arkansas, and Mississippi reported declines from 1958 income. Louisiana and Mississippi are among southern states reflecting gain or over 1,000 per cent in broiler production in recent years.

Billy Monti, who is employed at T. V. Station, WDAW at Hattiesburg is spending two weeks vacation with his parents Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Monti.

MISSISSIPPI'S CIVIL WAR
CENTENNIAL PLANS

Mississippi will play a colorful role in the forthcoming Civil War Centennial — a five year program commemorating valor on both sides of a war in which more battles were fought in Mississippi, and in Virginia than in any of the other states involved. Mississippi has 7 events on the official list of planned observances. They include four commemorative ceremonies and three re-enactments. These will take place in seven different sections of the state.

SOIL
NEWS

August is here and September is not far away. Farm problems confront us daily. Livestock need food for survival and to maintain body weight. Some of our livestock get what food they need, others don't. Can you afford to wait until winter is upon you before deciding how much feed that will be needed for your herd to carry them through until spring? Certainly not.

All cattle need some grain, and or winter grazing to get them through the winter. Cattle need about ten bushels of grain per head, hogs need about 15 bushels of grain per head to be fed for the market. Dairy and beef cattle need about one half acre of winter grazing per animal, such as oats, rye grass, winter wheat, or fescue with clover.

A good quality hay is needed for cattle. Generally, one ton per head is considered sufficient with some form of supplement feed. This much hay with a good supplement will carry cattle through the winter.

The soil conservation district of Hancock County along with all the other Agricultural Agencies is ready and willing to assist you with any farm problem. Do not hesitate to call upon them.
